VIDEO EDITOR

About Me

I'm a video editor with a bachelor's degree in computer science from St. Mary's University. What started as a curiosity for tech turned into a real passion for storytelling through video. I love taking raw footage and turning it into something that feels alive whether it's a quick edit or a full project. My tech background makes it easy for me to learn new tools and figure things out fast, and I enjoy working with others to create videos that really stand out.
